

“ I have gotten a lot of useful data on what type of traffic my network is made up of, where congestion in key parts of the network is coming from and who the hosts are that are generating a lot of the traffic. This approach provides us with the information necessary to make capacity planning decisions and to detect many forms of network abuse.

— Engineer, Global 500 Energy & Utilities Company

Source: Engineer, Global 500 Energy & Utilities Company

✓ Validated

Published: Oct. 19, 2016 TVID: D7D-C29-500

TechValidate
by SurveyMonkey