How our organization uses Cisco Threat Response:

> " There are two primary use cases. The first is to gather as much information about active incidents as quickly as possible. The second use case is for retroactive evaluation of threats that occurred in the past. We can quickly tell if we were contact or impacted.

Would you recommend Cisco Threat Response?

> " Drop-dead easy to use, and often negates the need to use tools like Maltego for deep analysis. Gives you a quick and accurate evaluation that can determine whether you actually need to dig deeper or not.
