

Case Study: Restraint Reduction at a Special Ed Day School

Introduction

This case study of an educational institution is based on a March 2016 survey of Crisis Prevention Institute customers by TechValidate, a 3rd-party research service. The profiled organization asked to have their name blinded to protect their confidentiality.

“CPI has improved staff de-escalation skills, overall safety, and has become ingrained into our training.”

“CPI training has led to improved student outcomes because of an increase in direct instruction time (test scores, student grades, graduation rates, etc.).”

“I have been through numerous CPI trainings and have found them all to be beneficial for my professional development. CPI has helped changed the culture at my current school.”

“Through CPI training, we have reduced restraints from 60 last year to only 4 this year.”

Challenges

Sought Nonviolent Crisis Intervention® training in order to:

- Meet regulatory compliance
- Reduce workplace violence rate
- Improve staff confidence in working with challenging student behaviors
- Improve staff skills in managing behaviors

Environment

- Categorizes their school as:
 - A day school
 - A special education school
- Provides refresher training to their staff every 6 months

Results

- Reduced challenging / disruptive behaviors by over 50% since implementing CPI de-escalation techniques
- Decreased the use of physical restraint and seclusion by 75–99% since implementing CPI training

Organization Profile

The organization featured in this case study asked to have its name publicly blinded because publicly endorsing vendors is against their policies.
