

Staff feels more confident and capable. A team approach is used which has reduced staff anxiety and the amount of personal injury to staff and students. Staff responds in a predictable manner which supports students. Students and parents know what to expect each and every time certain high-risk behaviors are presented. Staff feels more inclined to intervene knowing they are legally covered and that our school district has provided them with an outline for responding. Personally, I have grown professionally as an instructor and can not thank CPI enough!
