

Crisis Prevention Skills & Restraint Reduction in Washington

The Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery decreased the use of physical restraint and seclusion by 75—99% since implementing CPI training.

“I believe that the CPI training is a great tool for assisting staff in recognizing tools they can use to help de-escalate an individual.”

Source: Ruth Leonard, Administrator, Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery

TechValidate
by SurveyMonkey

✓ Validated

Published: Aug. 3, 2016 TVID: B1D-2A2-D7A