Gusto puts benefits and payroll in one place and I can't overstate how awesome that is because I don't think of my company as a disjointed collection of stuff. Gusto makes the process seem like this is the way it SHOULD have been designed from the beginning. As an entrepreneur, my skill set does not translate well to the benefits administration aspect of running a company. Gusto does all the stuff I hate to do, so my employees and I can focus on the things we love to do.
