

“ We just launched our first LMS last year and it’s been a challenge to get employees to go to the LMS to find and use training.

The eJ4 courses are the best for us at this point in time since they are short. Everyone uses the excuse that they don’t have time for training, so short courses have been my go-to options this year to slowly shift employee’s mindset from “I don’t have time” to “I can spend 5 minutes on training.”

Microlearning seems appropriate for us. Our employees never had any training options previously, so the fact that we can offer just about any type of training on any subject gives us great flexibility in meeting the various needs of our organization.

— Human Resources Manager, Medium Enterprise Transportation Services Company

Source: Human Resources Manager, Medium Enterprise Transportation Services Company

TechValidate
by SurveyMonkey

✓ Validated

Published: Jul. 17, 2017 TVID: 748-64C-1C0