SolarWinds Network Configuration Manager Customer Review

4.5/5 Stars

How our organization uses SolarWinds Network Configuration Management:

" We use NCM for backing up configurations of our network devices. We also use it to figure out if someone made a change and forgot to do a "write mem" by comparing the startup and running configurations. I realize there are even more features that we haven't taken advantage of yet. I'm hoping at some point IT will have time to "grow into" those features and take advantage of the full product.

Would you recommend SolarWinds Network Configuration Management?

" I would recommend it. It is easy to use and accomplishes the task we need it to do very well.
