How our organization uses Stack Overflow for Teams:

" Before SO4T (as we almost universally refer to it) we didn't have a good searchable knowledge base. Software developers' prior familiarity with StackOverflow and the intuitive Q&A format allowed us to quickly build up a substantial repository of expert knowledge. Now when someone solves a problem or creates something new, a standard question for them is "did we add this to SO4T?"

Would you recommend Stack Overflow for Teams?

" Yes, I do recommend it often to other IT managers and professionals due to our organization's success with it.
