How our organization uses Stack Overflow for Teams:

Our software developers are very familiar with Stack Overflow and use it daily to help solve difficult technical problems. Stack Overflow for Teams brought that benefit to our internal environment where we can capture knowledge and collaborate on problems that are either specific to our environment or security-sensitive and can't be shared externally. Our biggest challenge, however, has been generating enough content to jump-start internal use.

Would you recommend Stack Overflow for Teams?

Stack Overflow for Teams brings a great public tool into the internal environment. It's a simple, easy and effective way to capture team expertise.
