How our organization uses The Skills Connection:

We used the Skills Connection to help us with the Gartner Magic Quadrant and Critical Capabilities submission. They also helped us prepare and practice our presentation for the briefing as well.

Would you recommend The Skills Connection?

I would highly recommend The Skills Connection. They were professional and truly understand the analyst community and their expectations. They helped us create submissions that we know will increase our standings in the next Magic Quadrant and help propel our company to the next level of market presence. They helped us formulate answers to questions that might have negatively impacted us so we could put our best foot forward. They kept us on time and in scope of the project and were there for us the entire time, reviewing our work and making recommendations on how to make it even better. An unexpected benefit is collateral that we can now use with customers, as well that we believe will have a real impact for us in our selling efforts. On top of all that, they were so great to work with, great attitudes, always available when we needed them, super responsive, and we truly felt like they were part of our team. I can't say enough good things about the work they did for us!
