

A level of credibility and insight that can't be matched by any other consultant or expert

5/5 Stars

How our organization uses The Skills Connection:

“ We invested in The Skills Connection to support our efforts to set realistic goals for our first Magin Quadrant (MQ). The expectations were set with our executives, and we achieved our goals with great momentum for the subsequent MQ. We engaged The Skills Connection to help us strategize and deliver our content effectively to the analysts in a way that would resonate with them. They also reviewed and provided feedback for all our content including questionnaire responses.

Would you recommend The Skills Connection?

“ Yes. The real-world experience of The Skills Connection team provides a level of credibility and insight that can't be matched by any other consultant or expert. Setting realistic internal expectations is half the battle when participating in MQs, and there isn't a more credible source to educate participants about the facts regarding process, methodology, and scoring for MQs. Not only did our Skills Connection consultant help us build and deliver content effectively, but he also made himself available to join calls that were convenient for our team, but not convenient for him with respect to his time zone. We were very impressed with the level of expertise, professionalism, and availability that was delivered by our Skills Connection consultant.