A Product Marketing Manager at a small business computer software company would be very likely to recommend The Skills Connection for this reason:

> " I have worked with TSC on two engagements, one on briefing best practices (including vendor briefing preparation) and one on a Magic Quadrant (first-time participation). We overachieved really in both cases, especially for the MQ. However, it was not only the results, also the overall collaboration was great. They quickly understood our situation and coached us giving great input and were very flexible. It has always been fun to work with TSC, too!
